Carmelo Parents Invite Candidates For Superintendent

Dr. Verna White and Mr. Ed Coffin, candidates for County Superintendent of Schools, will speak next Wednesday evening, October 17, at 8:00 p. m. in the Multipurpose room at Carmelo School. Platforms will be presented by each candidate in a 15-minute talk, followed by a question and answer period.

Interested parents and citizens from all parts of the school district are invited to attend the event, which is being sponsored by the Carmelo Parents Club as a public service, in lieu of its regular monthly meeting.

Last week, the Carmelo Parents Club sponsored "grade meetings" to provide an opportunity for the teachers to acquaint parents with the work planned for the coming year. Each teacher discussed his program and objectives, then answered questions from parents.

ANOTHER NEW VILLAGE SHOP

"The Village Trading Post," latest local enterprise, opens formally this Saturday afternoon in the courtyard of the Valley Center Professional Building--behind Carmel Valley Market. But already its energetic entrepreneur, Mrs. Dallas Pack, is so mobbed with consignments and donations that an informal opening has prematurely if unofficially occurred. Cider and doughnuts, beginning at 1:00 p. m., will be served at the formal affair.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The Carmel Valley unit of the League of Women Voters will hold its monthly unit meeting Friday Oct. 12 at 9:45 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Robert Schwarz, 70 Rancho Road. "Regional Planning" is the subject to be studied, with Miss Bessie Irvin and a committee leading the discussion.

Sunday Is "Play Day" at Trail and Saddle Club

BIG GEM EXHIBIT

BY JODY COOPER

A plague is sweeping the County! Rock Pox, the disease spread by Rockhounds, has reached epidemic proportions. No less than FIVE rock clubs are going to exhibit at our Gem Jamboree next Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 13th and 14th at Tularcitos School. The time: Saturday, 10 a. m. 'til 10 p. m.; Sunday 10 a. m. until 6 p. m.

Besides our own club, (feverish with enthusiasm), the Santa Clara Gem and Mineral Society, The Pajaro Valley Rockhounds, Monterey Bay Mineral Society (Salinas) and the Hollister Gem and Lapidary Society will exhibit jewelry and specimens. About thirty exhibit cases and several tables will be used, according to Professor Malcolm Bauer, general chairman for the show.

Special exhibits will include Indian arrowheads, a black light display, a Benitoite collection (the only known place in the world where this mineral is found is in San Benito County), a Botryoidal jade and jewelry collection, plus who knows what may turn up at the last minute!

Lapidarists will spell each other showing how to cut and facet stones and will demonstrate how to use equipment. A silent auction will be held (write a bid on paper provided and, perhaps you will get a lovely piece of jewelry at your price). There will be grab-bags and door-prizes and cake, hotdogs and other goodies will be on sale. Admission is free. Children are welcome!

STUART FLETCHER, president of the C. V. Gem & Mineral Society, uses jewelry-making equipment of his own design and manufacture to cut a piece of silver. Four other rockhound groups will join the local club in the GEM JAMBOREE this weekend at Tularcitos School. The public is invited.

WORK TO START ON VALLEY CURVE

County Road Commissioner Bruce McClain stated early this week that earth-moving operations will begin on the property of Mrs. Janette Ayres "probably within the next couple of weeks." Final vestiges of legal complications were removed at last Monday's Board of Supervisors' meeting, when an improvement agreement between the County and Mrs. Ayres was formalized.

By removing part of an earth-bank and moving a fence, the County will be acceding to repeated requests of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association and of the Tularcitos Parents Club to improve visibility on a certain famous curve, one of a series of curves on Carmel Valley Rd. near Country Club Dr. (The curve in question is sometimes called "Porter's Curve," but when queried on this topic, real estate saleswoman Ruth Angell retorted that "Bourbon Curve" seemed more appropriate to the usual type of accident occuring there.)

Informed of the news, CVPOA president Jack Uzzell expressed great pleasure. "The County has put a lot of work into these arrangements," he stressed. "The legal angles were a lot more complicated than it appeared at first."

He said he was pleased not only because the residents had achieved a long-desired road improvement, but because "this is a case where the people of the Valley worked along with and co-operated with the County officials, and everything worked out well."

CONTINUANCE?

While on the subject of Carmel Valley Rd., Commissioner McClain had a few more thoughts. He said that his department is "snowed with work" at this time, and he may well request a 30 to 60 day continuance on the hearing for the County's proposed planlines for 4 lanes from the new Junior High School to Farm Center.

"It's a pretty important thing and there would be nothing to gain from rushing, anyway," he concluded.

YOUTH GROUP CAKES SELL LIKE HOT

"All our kitchens are a terrible mess and we have nothing left to sell," moaned the young ladies managing the bake sale tables outside Bennett's and Kelley's last Saturday -- but they didn't look too unhappy about it!

Proceeds were approximately $25, which the Youth Group plans to use for a bang-up Hallowe'en party.

"All the kids worked real hard," said director Reg Bennett. The girls did the baking and the boys arranged relays of deliveries. The Youth Group meets every Saturday at the Community Center and is open to Valley youngsters of high school age.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

OUTLOOK:

Speaking for all the members of Patrick C. Berta's family, I should like to express our most heartfelt gratitude to Dr. Van Horn, and to the ambulance and first aid crews for their quick response in assisting Patrick when he suffered his accident.

We cannot say enough about the good work of our Volunteers. We have had experience with their help in previous times of stress. They never stint, but give their all, and are certainly performing a worthwhile, neces-necessary Christian charity.

We would also like to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindnesses; many have mentioned that they are praying for Patrick. Thank you all.

Mrs. Leo Berta

HIGHWAY PATROL ANSWERS LETTER FROM VALLEYITE. . .

Mr. Bruce H. Matson
Route 2, Box 3074
Carmel, California

Dear Sir:

The copy of your letter of October 1, 1962, to the editor of the Carmel Valley OUTLOOK has been received, and its contents noted with interest, as your observations tend to confirm some conclusions we have made relative to the traffic problems that exist in Carmel Valley.

Analysis of accidents occurring in the Valley reveal that the large majority of those involved are residents of the Valley who are quite familiar with the roadways and the hazards involved. In spite of this knowledge, residents of the Valley continue to be involved in accidents, which often occur as the result of either poor judgment, discourtesy or outright disregard for traffic laws.

As a whole, the social level in Carmel Valley must be considered above average, and it seems reasonable to assume that one could expect a greater degree of compliance to the rules of the road than in an area of a more transient nature. As you point out, this, in view of the actions of some adults, is a fallacious assumption, and cannot be considered in mapping out remedial action.

With reference to your request for more patrol coverage in Carmel Valley, let me assure you that we are deploying as much manpower to this area as our limited resources will allow. The assignment of manpower to any particular beat is predicated on the scope of the problem existing there. In this instance, we have made assignments to the Carmel Valley beat at the expense of other critical areas. As a resident of this County who has demonstrated a commendable awareness, I am sure that you will agree we have a serious and wide-spread problem. We are, of course, involved in a continuing process of evaluating the over-all problem and re-deploying as the situation demands. Carmel Valley is receiving close attention, and we will exhaust all possibilities in our efforts to correct a situation of which you have shown a just concern.

It is hoped that the above information will re-affirm your confidence in this Department. If you desire to be provided with more detailed information, please do not hesitate to call on us.

Very truly yours,

BRADFORD M. CRITTENDEN

FISHING AND HUNTING

by Lester A. Golden

There is still good fishing in the Los Padres reservoir. True, the water level is quite low, but the trout there are larger now, and they bite better than they did a month or two ago. Trout season doesn't close until the end of this month. And though the San Clemente reservoir is not stocked by the Department, there is excellent trout fishing there too for those fortunate enough to have permission to fish there.

Wild pig season opened the first of October, but I heard of no exceptionally large boars being taken during the first week. Most of the wild pigs I've seen lately are in very poor condition, except for those few having the good fortune to live near some available food source. The wild pigs inhabiting the back country are near starvation at this time; particularly the brood sows and their litters. The mortality rate is extremely high during these dry months when there simply isn't enough natural food available to enable the wild sow to feed her suckling pigs, or to maintain her own strength to the point of being able to defend them against attacks of marauding dogs, mountain lions, coyotes, and bob-cats.

AMATEURS

And then there is the amateur hunter who may chance upon a sow and her pigs, and who will shoot the sow, simply because, to him she is the largest of the group, only to find that he has killed an emaciated, unsightly beast, obviously unfit for human consumption. So he leaves the carcass where it fell, and walks away. He has in effect, killed a sow and her entire litter, for no good reason at all. Because the little pigs, deprived of their mother's protection, will rarely survive.

Hunting is difficult now, due to the extremely dry and dusty condition of the back country, and the fire hazard is acute. Water is in short supply, with many streams and springs gone dry. While the rain we had during the last winter season did relieve the condition of drouth so prevalent during the three preceding years, the total precipitation still fell short of normal for this area. Conditions in the back country now are therefore, much the same as they were at this time two years ago, and with no immediate prospect for rain. There is a rather poor acorn crop, although some acorns are dropping now to provide relief for hungry big game animals.

PIGEONS

Wild pigeon season will open this year on December 15th. There is nothing locally so far to indicate the prospects for a good shoot. I have seen no flocks of migratory birds to date, although there are probably enough madrone berries and acorns to hold them awhile, providing they do show up. The shooting season will be from December 15th to January 13th, with a daily bag and possession limit of eight birds.

FROM THE BENCH

BY CARL BERNHARD

Monterey High School put on their best game of the year to rout Napa 37-19. The MHS lightweights won, for the 26th time in a row, 25-0. Next week Bellarmine could well stop the 12 game-in-a-row streak as they are always rated highly in Northern California.

Carmel High Varsity won for the second straight week by a 7-0 score. This time it was over tough Hollister. The Padres are now 2-0 in B-division play.

Keeping pace with the Padres were the Pacific Grove High Eleven. The Breakers beat San Lorenzo 20-12 for a 2-0 league record.

MPC was cleaned by a 40-0 score at Santa Maria as the Al Hancock Bulldogs jumped all over the Lobos. The wolves went hungry for the second time this year as the line didn't scare anyone (on the enemy side, that is). MPC doesn't believe in close games as they have lost two games by about 40 points each and won one by the same score.

The new Laguna Seca Pacific Grand Prix posters are very colorful this year and should be in great demand by the poster-collecting types. Printed on thick, high quality cardboard, they must have been expensive to produce, especially with all that color. Speaking of the race, there will be a very large display of unusual cars entering. There are several specials running small American engines (instead of tiny foreign or huge U. S. ones) in the nimble European cars. Whereas only Corvette engines used to be used for this purpose, the builders are now using the small Buick aluminum V-8, the new, small Ford V-8, and even a Corvair engine. All these examples will be there at Laguna October 20-21.

Mrs. Marjorie Weber of Hacienda Carmel, shown above with her husband, Dr. George Weber, is the OUTLOOK's newest correspondent -- from Hacienda Carmel. The couple came to the Hacienda from Palo Alto. Dr. Weber is a retired professor of Economics, with an M.A. from Harvard and a Ph.D. from the U. of Cal. at Berkeley. Mrs. Weber, who holds an M.A. in the same subject, has also instructed at the college level. She says she once made history at Ohio State U. by giving an "F" to the "most famous quarterback in the state...But I didn't flunk him--he failed. He did it himself; that's what I told the students," she chuckled.

The Webers retired several years ago, then went to Germany to work with the American Friends Service Committee. "Retirement from SALARY," that's what I called it," twinkled Dr. Weber. Making no secret of his liberal political views, he said that he hopes to become active in the community and would not take it amiss if someone asked him to work on the Stewart campaign.

Mrs. Weber stressed that she has never done newspaper writing. "Just because I wrote a letter to the Herald and they printed it, some of them at the Hacienda decided I could write, so I'll try it!" she said.

Notes from Hacienda Carmel

by Marjorie Weber

The residents of Hacienda Carmel find themselves living in an atmosphere more like that of a charmingly located country club than a home for people who have reached the afternoon of their lives. Together, they form an association (incorporated) set up to handle all matters of common interest to them. They determine, by discussion in which all are asked to participate, what interests and activities are to find expression in their retirement community.

Already, two months after the first residents arrived, there have been several meetings for such discussion, and many plans and projects are in the offing. They range in character, in terms of physical activity, from card games of various kinds to swimming in the Hacienda pool or hiking in the beautiful hills surrounding us. Concerts and other musical programs are planned and already started. One artist resident has agreed to head classes on sketching or painting. Occasional tours have been proposed, as well as evenings devoted to the showing of members' colored slides from their travels in many parts of the world. Naturally, too, the green thumbers will find scope for their interests, both in their own patios and in flower gardens in the public areas of the Hacienda.

This is only a partial list of activities proposed or planned, but it indicates that no one will ever need to feel bored, or as if he (or she) were on the shelf. Residence in such a community should surely add both years to our lives and life to our years!

NEW HOME OWNERS

Mr. and Mrs. August Warcken have purchased the former Fike home on lower Carmel Valley Rd. They are the new owners also, with Mrs. Louise Crosby Fitzsimmons, of River Inn in Big Sur. The Warckens have resided in Mission Fields for about 6 years and before that lived in Castroville, where they also own Bing's Diner.

Mr. and Mrs. Warcken plan considerable refurbishing of their new home before they move in. Meanwhile, localites will be happy to hear that Angel Alvarado, the caretaker, will continue to live on the property. Angel, known to all youngsters in the area as "Uncle", is responsible for the construction of most of the masonry walls in the neighborhood--including the one with the little "belfries", at the entrance to the Warcken's new home.

I couldn't help but be tremendously impressed by the advertisement in last week's OUTLOOK for INGA-BRITT's new Salon. In part it read, "... designed for a new and lovelier you... stimulation, firming, and stretching ... etc."

How come she thinks she can produce a "new" me when all else has failed so dismally? In any case, I'm sort of attached to the "old" me, to be honest about it. The only things absolutely guaranteed to produce a REALLY "new" me are as follows:

(a) a full time maid, (b) a full-time gardener, (c) a full-time governess, (d) a full-time chauffer, (e) a full-time secretary, and finally (f) three months in the South of France.

And what is this "firming and stretching" jazz? I can assure her that everything stretchable has already been stretched to its absolute limits, thank you, and at my advance middle age there's not much left to "firm". As for the "stimulation"--this is something I feel really shouldn't be discussed in public anyway.

Actually, I should have gone to her champagne party last Saturday, as she might have picked me for one of those "before" and "after" articles I keep seeing in Women's magazines.

Having got off on a "bouquet" kick last week, I feel a few more today won't do any harm.

It's probably highly irregular for one columnist to toast another, particularly on the same paper, but CHUCK KLINE of VALLEY HILLS NURSERY (formerly Kallikakomone and Jukes) really deserves some laurels. His knowledge of plants is quite amazing, and it's almost impossible to ask him a question he can't answer-however recherche it may be (and what is more, if he doesn't know the answer, he says so, which is refreshing).

P.S. Please feel free to reciprocate next week, Mr. Kline!

What on earth is that Maginot Line across the road between the back of JACK UZZELL's garage and the POTTERY SHOP? Parking has become a positive hazard!

I was horrified to see in the paper recently that one of our Valley Banks was advertising (with great pride, mind you) that they had just installed a super-duper new machine which processes checks in so many seconds. Surely this must be a gross error in judgment on the part of their advertising man.... don't they realize that for such as I the longest delay possible is the only thing which makes our lives financially liveable? Good heavens! Now I shall have to make a deposit BEFORE I write a check. I used to feel safe in writing a check on Friday, knowing that it wouldn't bounce until Monday at the earliest--by which time I could have dashed down with a deposit to cover it, (I hope) but no more --mechanization has caught up with us again. However, for the benefit of any Bank Managers who read this column, I will be simply delighted to transfer my account to whichever one of you can assure me that he has absolutely the slowest check processing machine around.

I think the British are much more civilized about this sort of thing, than we. Did you know that in England one's bank statement is typed in black until one starts to overdraw, and then it just tactfully changes to red?

COMMUNITY CHEST SPOKESMAN ANSWERS POINTED QUESTIONS FROM VALLEYITES

Some quite pointed questions about the activities of the Community Chest were posed to the OUTLOOK this week. These questions were passed on to Mrs. Robert Newton, president of the Community Chest on the Monterey Peninsula.

"Why is the Carmel Valley Community Center not to receive funds from the Chest after this year?" was question one which subscribers raised by telephone and personal visits to the OUTLOOK office.

Coincidentally, Mrs. Newton had been chairman, 3 years ago, of the committee which made the decision to cease giving aid to all Community Centers and Youth Centers on the Peninsula. She made the following explanation:

The question was studied at some length before the decision was made; all the Community Centers were notified that aid would decrease over a period of 3 years, gradually "phasing out". The chief purposes of the Chest are defined as aiding "charitable, service, and character-building agencies." The various Community and Youth Centers throughout the Peninsula vary so much in their uses that it was found difficult to equate them. Many of their activities were recreational, and it was felt that recreation should be supported within the separate communities.

Mrs. Newton stressed that any Community Center which feels it should qualify for aid can question the decision, but that the C.V. Community Center had never, to her knowledge, questioned it.

Question number two which the OUTLOOK passed on was "Just what services in the Valley will continue to receive aid from the Community Chest?" Mrs. Newton's reply:

The visiting Nurse Association will provide nursing care to the sick, aged, or infirm "as far as Jamesburg if necessary" on a free, part-pay or full-pay basis, depending on the financial abilities of the patient.

("I'm rather glad of the opportunity to publicize this," said she, "for many people still do not know about this service.")

The Family Service Bureau provides counseling through trained social workers for families with marital troubles, difficulties in the management of their children, etc. Again, payment is on a sliding scale.

The Alcoholic Council provides information and referral to various sources of aid where alcohol is a problem to a family.

Both the Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts receive funds for administrative expenses, leader training, etc.

The third question repeated to Mrs. Newton was, "How many people in the Valley actually benefit from Community Chest funds?"

Said Mrs. N. --graciously but sadly--"Sometimes I think people are just looking for a reason not to give. If we kept records of that type of detail, our administrative expenses would soar, and we'd be criticized for that, too."

"Carmel Valley is a delightful place to live, in part, because the whole Peninsula is a delightful place to live. This would not be nearly so true were it not for the constructive work of our social service agencies. Without them, there would be chaos of a sort that would effect every single community in this area. We don't have walls between our little communities--nor can we build them!"

COME TO THE Carnival

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 13
11:00 A.M. TO 5:00 P.M.
ON THE
CARMEL HIGH SCHOOL GROUNDS

BY STAN SMITH, C.H.S.

The Carmel High School Scholarship Carnival will take place October 13, and the school is busy with last minute preparations.

The theme of the event, appropriately enough, is Mardi Gras, and the festival spirit around CHS does justice to the namesake. A dance last Saturday, a parade through Carmel this Friday, and all the rush, rush of the last few days seem to be evidence that this will be the best carnival yet.

There will be something for everyone Saturday, from the usual games for prizes, such as the goldfish throw, the basketball toss, and the record heave, to the ever-popular auction, where one can buy almost anything under the sun for give-away prices.

Other features will be a fresh vegetable booth, a garden booth, and a sale of the works of local artists. Lunch and refreshments will also be served, and those attending the event will even be able to have their car washed while they have fun. Times for the carnival have been set at 11-5 p. m.

Co-sponsored by the PTA and the Girls' Athletic Association, the carnival is headed by Miss Dorothy Wright, assisted by Mrs. Ivan Tweedie. This hard-working pair must take a good deal of credit for getting the benefit going and keeping it rolling.

Concessions and booths are allotted to the three high school classes and to the various campus clubs, for organization and execution. The best decorated booth is given recognition.

HISTORY

The Carnival started 12 years ago in the spring of 1951. Run only by the GAA that year, it featured a pony ride, and raised about $350. The next year the PTA came in and $650 was raised. The sum has grown ever since, and last year amounted to $4200.

Over the years many strange things have happened, and some weird merchandise has shown up for auction. Glass sliding doors, a moving van, a lamb, and a profusion of other living things have gone to the highest bidder.

CARNIVAL DANCE

Last Saturday night the Carnival Dance was held in the High School Gym. Herb Miller's band provided music for dancing, and Max Tadlock was master of ceremonies. This was truly a community dance, as not only the high school students but the Junior High, the residents of Carmel, and students of Pacific Grove High, Santa Catalina, and Robert Louis Stevenson School were invited. An enjoyable time was had by all.

A fashion show presented before the dancing began, featured Carmel students modeling garments provided by local merchants. Mrs. Diane Bolinger commented on the fashions, and Mr. Robert Forbes provided background music on an electric organ.

Merchants contributing to the show were Shari's, Marberry Dress Shop, Arriola's, Mark Fenwick, Putnam and Raggett, Grace's Debs, Gladys McCloud, Lanz, Mackes, Bib 'n Tucker, Boys' Town and Graham Music Company.

MODELS

Featured models were Mr. Hadley Hicks with his daughter, Susie, Mr. Dick Lawitzke with his children, Laurie, Heidi, Amy, and Milton; Dr. F. M. Burleson and his daughter, Debbie; and Mr. Warren Edwards and his daughter, Peggy.

SOME LITTLE GIRL'S heart will be gladdened by this very special doll-house, to be raffled at the scholarship carnival this Saturday.

PARADE

This Friday (tomorrow) the annual parade of cars and costumed marchers will wind through Carmel, starting about 2:30. Prizes will be given for the best decorated car and best costumed marcher in accordance with the Mardi Gras theme.

Immediately after the parade, students will dash to set up the booths, working into the evening and again the next morning until the 11:00 a. m. starting point.

AUCTION

Annually the biggest money maker as well as the most popular event, this year's auction should be no exception. Headed by David Riggs, the auction committee has picked up some interesting material during the last few weeks. An incomplete list follows: one '52 Studebaker sedan, one 15' rowboat, six oil paintings by local artists, picnic table with benches, assorted small tables, about five pieces of lawn furniture, two typewriters, about five radios, one hi-fi set, electric hedge clippers, electric floor polisher, electric wall heater, vacuum cleaner, double bed with box spring and mattress, various lamps, rugs and pads, clothing, books, records, dishes, pottery, knick-knacks, shoes, roller skates and other sporting goods, paint and varnish, and auto parts (hub caps, finder skirts, etc.)

You can probably find anything else you're looking for. Come early, for there's no telling when any certain article will go on sale.

SCHOLARSHIPS

But where does all this money go; what has this complicated effort been for?

Each year the entire amount raised is allotted to members of the graduating class on the basis of applications showing need, good scholastic standing, good character, and contributions of service to Carmel High. Candidates are selected by a board on which students, PTA, and faculty are all represented.

Awards are announced at graduation and may be used at any educational institution, provided the student maintains a "C" average for his first semester.

Winners may apply for addi-

SERIES OF FOUR ACCIDENTS IN LOWER VALLEY LAST WEEKEND

Things began mildly, as accidents go, when Doris Anderson of Hitchcock Canyon, last Friday at 11:30 a. m. failed to negotiate the left turn from Carmel Valley Road into Robinson Cn., and struck first the parked Farm Center station wagon, and second, an antique wagon, pushing it about 30 feet with her car.

There were no injuries and -- since so much has been said about the mixture of gasoline and alcohol and C. V. Rd. -- it seems prudent to add that Mrs. Anderson, a well-respected lady, is just learning how to drive. The C. H. P. report affirms that the driver had not been drinking.

At 12:10 p. m. on the same day -- just 40 minutes later -- a station wagon driven by Elesio Regules of Schulte Rd., westbound on the hill just east of Farm Center, went out of control on the curve, knocked down two fence posts, and landed on its left side in the quiet meadow some 75 feet down the bank to the south. Mr. Regules suffered minor injuries. The C. H. P. report affirms that he, too, had not been drinking.

On Saturday, Oct. 6 -- the very next day -- at 2:25 p. m. a westbound car driven by John R. De Soto, 16, a student of Monterey Union High School, traveling, according to the police report, at "an excessive rate of speed," hit the shoulder, crossed the road, and struck the eastbound car of Robert D. Downs, 35, of Carmel, a court reporter. Downs' car was "totaled," as the current saying goes. Do Soto's car went down the same bank into the same peaceful meadow. The 16-year-old De Soto received major injuries and was taken to the Monterey Hospital By a Red Cross ambulance. The C. H. P. report states that he "had been drinking," although it was "not known if his abilities were impaired." Downs was not injured.

CO-INCIDENCE

By complete co-incidence, Mrs. Elesio Regules was driving by in another car just in time to witness the De Soto boy's accident. "My goodness!" said she. "That is exactly where my husband's car landed only yesterday!"

On Sunday Oct. 7, the following day, at 2:08 p. m., a car driven by Letitia Ann Bratty, 18, of Pacific Grove, broke the pattern by going out of control about one mile west of the scene of the other accidents. Miss Bratty, east bound in a Renault, attempted to pass, saw an oncoming car, and applied her brakes. The car spun, rolled, and hit an embankment on the opposite side of the road. Miss Bratty suffered minor injuries, but her companion, Claire Buonacorsi, also of Pacific Grove, suffered major ones. The two were taken to Community Hospital by the C. V. Volunteer Ambulance crew.

Miss Bratty had not been drinking, nor was she traveling at an excessive rate of speed. She was cited for passing when vision was impaired. (Ed. note: She was cited for something one can observe happening on C. V. Rd. almost every day.)

William Morgan, a professional photographer who specializes in photos "taken at the scene of the accident," recorded on film the two serious accidents just above Farm Center. He has been taking pictures of this sort since 1945, when he was discharged from the Army after World War II.

"I thought I was doing a really worthwhile thing," said he ruefully. "I thought my pictures would teach people something. Now I know people don't learn anything. They just go over the next hill the very next day and do the very same thing."

VALLEY HILLS NURSERY

Bulbs have many different functions in a garden.

We usually think of them in formal beds or long rows; however, there are many other uses and types of displays to which we can put them.

Shrubbery borders, so often drab late in Winter, can be perked up with clusters and drifts of cheery Daffodils and Dutch Iris. By Winter time, perennial beds look like a sleepy housewife answering an early morning caller; groups of bulbs poking through the bleak earth can do wonders. Freesias, Crocus, and Narcissus will be the first to bloom, followed by the Hyacinths and Tulips, etc. to perk up your trouble spots.

Have you ever tried naturalizing Daffodils around the fringes of shade trees? If your trees are the deciduous types you can often plant quite deep into the area. Throw them out in drifts and plant them just where they fall.

Another place where bulbs can provide color early in the year is where you usually plant annuals. When Spring comes, most bulbs will have already bloomed and the young annual plants can be planted between them. If you dislike having the ripening foliage around for a few months, bulbs can be planted in boxes or pots and then lifted to a back area after they have bloomed.

When planting bulbs, consider planting around them with contrasting colors, White Tulips or Hyacinths are dazzling when coming up through a bed of blue Violas; Tulip "Queen of the Night" which is a dark mahogany color, is equally effective when growing through white Pansies. Blue Dutch Iris mixed with yellow Daffodils are especially effective. Do you have White Birches? Try naturalizing Narcissus and the blue Grape Hyacinth around their base.

NURSING HOSPITAL OPENS AT FORMER COMMUNITY SITE

BY DOROTHY REED

The old Community Hospital on Highway One has had a bout with plastic surgery, and the surgery won! The old emergency entrance and ambulance driveway have been walled in and floored over to make a patients' dayroom with big sunny windows and comfortable modern furniture; the old surgery and delivery room are pleasant bedrooms and baths. As the Monterey-Carmel Convalescant Hospital, the building re-opened its doors last week under the direction of Mr. C. K. Shiro, now of Pacific Grove, a hospital administrator for 23 years and a Fellow of the American College of Hospital Administrators. Busy and cheerful at the nursing station, is Mrs. Bernardine Taaffe, well-known in the Valley as a descendant of the pioneer Meadows family and wife of the developer of Valley Hills Shopping Center. A registered nurse is on duty at all times, and Mrs. Taaffe has the day shift.

There is also a practical nurse on each shift, and at present a cook and helper and two maintenance men complete the staff, with a dietician and physical therapist on call. Medical care is furnished by each patient's private physician, and arrangements with local hospitals provide laboratory and X-ray work. Mr. Shiro hopes to open the first floor to patients by the end of this month.

The hospital will accommodate both ambulatory and bed patients with a capacity, when complete, of 57.

A glimpse into the former maternity wing, as yet unrenovated, points up the difference that light walls and floors, effective lighting fixtures, and unhospital-looking furniture can make. The second floor is now occupied by eight patients and contains a completely re-done modern kitchen with stainless steel appliances and a dining room where the original Moorish flavor of the architecture has been preserved. Nearly every bedroom has access to a deck where the sun and the woodsy view can be enjoyed.

QUIET HIGHWAY #1

Highway #1, the coast route down the profile of California, has been almost a deserted road for the last week. This usually busy road is quiet and traffic practically nil during certain hours of the day. These quiet hours seem to coincide with the broadcast times of the World Series games. We deal only in local issues, but it does give one a funny feeling to have concrete evidence that baseball is really the "National Pastime" and so many people are caught up in the spell of playing for a championship. May the most competent competitors emerge victorious!

BACK TO CLASS

"Still as a millpond," is an over-worked phrase but it is difficult to find anything as appropriate to describe the waters of Monterey Bay last Saturday. The Marina was busy with people checking over their boats in anticipation of a day on the water.

The "Islander" was waiting, her sails up, and every inch of her twenty-four feet bright and shiny as the day. She glided out of the Marina, catching every breath of wind in the tall sails; the master of our household--and for then, the boat--was at the tiller. It seemed almost impossible that anything so large could move so quietly and without apparent effort.

FROM SEAWARD

After leaving the breakwater, we headed for Pacific Grove. Cannery Row does look different from the ocean side! None of the activities of the shops, galleries, or restaurants are evident and it looks truly deserted. Turning at the point where Hopkins Marine stands, we had a more complete view than ever before. It most resembles a recluse's mansion, with blinds drawn in the quiet of Saturday afternoon.

Here, close to the shore, the wind died to a whisper and the jib flapped uselessly as it was blanketed by the main sail. Our worthy instructor, Ed Muniz, then demonstrated the use of a "whisker pole." He stood on the bow and stretched the jib in order to catch every bit of wind. It looked a bit precarious to me, from my seat in the cockpit, but it must beat rowing!

Next week, he told us, we will have a rescue drill. This will involve various maneuvers, performed as quickly as possible, to pick up a life jacket simulating a man over-board. One very apt pupil took eleven minutes to come about and pull the jacket from the water. When he was asked why it took him so long, he explained that he envisioned it as his mother-in-law.

All good things must eventually come to an end, and our sailing hours ended too quickly. The entrance to the Marina was a very busy place; Dr. and Mrs. John Gratiot were headed out for the day in a sister ship of our "Islander." Parking a 24-foot boat with the use of sail only, is a tricky maneuver and we were delighted when our spouse accomplished it on the first try. He has been reading religiously the very complete book for beginning sailors, ROYCE'S SAILING ILLUSTRATED, which is now available at local book stores.

'Til next week then, providing they don't decide to make me the focal point of an unsuccessful rescue operation!

HOSPITAL AUXILIARY HEARS HUBER

BY BONNIE HOLBROOK

The active membership of the Peninsula Community Hospital Auxiliary held a luncheon meeting at the Monterey Peninsula Country Club on Monday, Oct. 1. Dr. Frederick R. Huber, president of Monterey Peninsula College, was the speaker. His topic was "The Changing Concept of Higher Education for Women."

Mrs. Gordon K. Reid, Auxiliary president, presided over the 180 members at the meeting. Mr. Thomas E. Tonkin, hospital administrator, congratulated the women on their organization which is now embarking on its eighth year of service to the hospital. He also said that the final section of the hospital will be ready for occupancy no later than January 3, 1963. In pointing up the efficiency of the new plant, equipment, and personnel, he said that patients are able to return home ten percent sooner than from the old hospital.

The group has begun work toward the publication next June of a new Peninsula Directory, proceeds from which have been pledged to the building fund.

The membership of the active Auxiliary now numbers 247, and includes the following Valley women: Miss Peg Bowen, Mesdames Edward J. Greer, Paul F. Porter, Philip Mothersill, Clayton B. Neill, Jr., Robert Robinson, Arthur G. Robinson, Robert Stanton, E. D. Stewart, Paul Steffan, Edgar H. Haber, and Derek Rayne. Inactive members total almost 750. This service group has contributed $25,000 to the new hospital building fund over a three year period.

C. V. WOMEN'S CLUB FASHION SHOW

by Jody Cooper

Want to spray your hair purple? Why not do it? It's guaranteed to make your husband come from behind his newspaper to admire you--or take to the hills. If you are statuesque KAY ROMM, who modeled in the C. V. W. C. 's fashion show Wednesday at Carmel Valley Inn, it would be a smash. Her purple hair dramatized the beautiful champagne colored dressy wool she was wearing. It was also dazzling with a Kelly green chiffon cocktail dress worn with a Cleopatra necklace.

Mrs. HELEN LIGHTNER DEAN of the Cinderella Shop tells us that the long formal is now in vogue and is perfect for white tie occasions. MRS. DEAN WOLTER wore a glamorous floor length formal in black silk embroidered all over in black bugle beads and sequins.

MRS. GERTRUDE BERRY wore a lovely gray, three piece double knit suit embroidered with silver thread.

MRS. EDGAR C. LESLIE modeled an absolutely elegant camel hair coat from Great Britain. (It was purchased on the spot.)

MRS. GEORGE FURHAM'S parrot-green belted tweed coat was very popular and, "I want that!" was heard from several directions.

MRS. WILLIAM WOOD was very smart in a blue and white "all occasion" dress. "It's Viyella. I bought it," she said. She later modeled a full length mink coat which caused so much excitement that Sam Brandt, the commentator could not be heard.

SYLVIA GOODWIN wore a red coat with a black mink collar and cuffs. It was beautiful, and reminded one of our first lady.

ANNE PARSONS

A white organza bodice embroidered in opalescent sequins with a floor length gold faille skirt was worn by MRS. JOSEPH PARSONS (the former Miss Alabama). With a flick of her wrists she whisked off her skirt and whirled it round her shoulders and it became a stunning cape. The "bodice" was actually part of a short formal, perfect either with or without the gold skirt-cape.

Pacing faster than the other models, PATRICIA GOODMAN zipped past in a marvelous soft green knit suit. It was the color of an avocado just under the peeling, (not a yellow green).

MRS. DALLAS PACK lent comic relief in the two outfits she wore. One, a barrel, the other a chartreuse top and trousers complete with hat and outsize cocktail glass.

The above were just a few of the fashions shown. The clothes were beautiful and what a pleasant way to contribute toward the Community Center's swimming pool fund!
